Several Feared Dead As Fire Rages Through Explosives Plant

An explosion ripped through Ingram Industries in the Kiln Wednesday afternoon killing an estimated seven people. Early reports show that approximately seven people were trapped in the building when the explosion went off about 3 p.m.

One unidentified female was taken from the fire scene and pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital. The body was then brought to Riemann-Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis.

Smoke from the fire could be seen as far away as the Bayou LaCrosse bridge on Highway 803.

Fire Departments from every city along the Gulf Coast including the departments from the Seabee Base, Poyune, Keesler AFB, Kiln, and the East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department were on the scene attempting to stop the fire from spreading to other buildings containing explosives.

At 4:45 p.m. it was decided to move the firemen away from the scene and allow the buildings to explode. As one fire chief said, "We can't stop it and we can't help those people who are caught in that building."

An eyewitness, Mrs. Mildred Carroll, 43, was working at the plant at the time of the explosion and gave this account:

"Six girls went to the cave or the tunnel, a room where aircraft star flares are tested. The building is about 100 sq. ft. in size. First, I heard the explosion and it blew all the flares in the air—some were blown into other areas where black powder and phosphorus are stored. Then I saw one big ball of black smoke then a big mushroom shaped cloud of white smoke went up. Then all the star flares went out in black-lake area."

Mrs. Carroll then said that all buildings were evacuated immediately.

In an interview with another employee the Echo learned that Ingram has had several fires in the last two months. "We had a large one yesterday," said one young man leaning against a truck. When asked who puts these fires out, he said, "People who work here at Ingram."

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner was in charge of emergency operations and was assisted by the Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Pass Christian and Gulfport police departments.

One young man was taken away by police after he attempted to run toward the building. Police said he had to be restrained because "his mother was in that building."

Three Arrested After Drugstore Burglary

Police Follow Men To Motel; Narcotics Found

Three Gulf Coast men were arrested early Monday morning after they allegedly broke into a Bay St. Louis drugstore and stole approximately $500 worth of drugs.

Being held in the Hancock County Jail under $20,000 bond each are Gerald P. Mauffray, 24, of Kiln; Steven Kerry Vick, 20, and Felix Albert Jr., 22, both from Gulfport.

The three are charged with possession of marijuana, burglary and breaking and entering.

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said that his office was notified around midnight Sunday about a disturbance at Fahey's Drugstore, 300 Railroad Ave. in Bay St. Louis. Police arrived at Fahey's just as the suspects were leaving and followed them to the Ramada Inn in Waveland.

Ladner said that the three were arrested in a motel room with a large quantity of stolen narcotics including amphetamines, barbiturates, codeine and hypodermic syringes.

A fourth suspect escaped in a stolen yellow Camaro.

Sheriff Ladner said that the suspects entered the drugstore by removing an air conditioning unit from the side of the building.

DEPUTY FAIRLEY NECAISE, left, and Sheriff Sylvan Ladner look over drugs confiscated after the arrest of three include James Ladner, Fairley Necaise, Willie Lee, William Tate, Lathan Garriga and Ronald Peterson. James Woodfin of the Mississippi Highway Patrol also assisted.

The preliminary hearing has been set for tonight at 7 o'clock at the Hancock County Courthouse. Beat Five Justice of the Peace Donald Carr will preside.

Satellite Conference Held At Test Facility

An International Earth Resources Technology Satellite (ERTS) Conference concluded this week at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Mississippi Test Facility.

The two-day conference involved more than fifty representatives of government, industry and educational institutions. Primary interest of the meeting focused on data collection systems used in obtaining information from remote, automatic platforms and the transmission of these data to ground stations.

Gary W. North, Earth Resources Observation Systems (EROS), U. S. Geological Survey, and Jackson M. Balch, Director, NASA-MTF, co-hosted the meeting.

The Earth Resources Technology Satellite is a first step in the merger of space and remote sensing technologies. NASA is currently developing an experimental satellite (ERTS A) to be launched early this summer. Data gathered by the satellite will be used by hundreds of scientists in universities, state and local governments, and federal agencies to conduct experiments in solving earth resources problems such as agriculture, forestry and hydrology to ensure more efficient management of our natural resources.

ROY B. STRICKLAND has authorized The Sea Coast Echo to announce that he is a candidate for Chancery Judge No. 3 for Hancock, Harrison and Stone counties.

ENGINEERS HIRED

Trumpets In The Morning

by Perry D. Neal, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis

SEEING JESUS

We are living in a crisis hour for America and for the whole world. Crisis has come to both the church and to the individual. In many places the church is falling and one reason for its failure is that many of us as Christians have gotten our eyes off the Lord. And when we get our eyes off the Lord and on to ourselves and others, there will always be trouble in the church, in the community, in the nation and throughout the world.

In the midst of this crisis, we believers need to lift our eyes. Today we need to see Jesus in all of His glory and majesty as the Son of God. I am convinced that the secret to a victorious life is for the believer to learn how to gaze upon Jesus. The gaze of the soul upon Christ brings blessing and victory over all things. And in the midst of crisis we Christians need to have victory over the world, over sin, over self and over Satan.

While sentenced on the Isle of Patmos, John the apostle of love had a vision of Jesus Christ in all His glory which he recorded in Revelation 1:5-7. John is not speaking about some myth or fable or some ideology of man. He is speaking about a PERSON, a divine person named Jesus Christ. And as John gazes upon the beauty and majesty of the Son of God, he says from the depths of his soul, "Unto Him" (v.5). As he looks into the face of this matchless Son of God, he is saying, "Let all glory, let all praise, let all honor be ascribed to the Son of God."

Can you honestly say that your eyes are set upon Jesus? Do you see Him - this matchless person, this beautiful Son of God? Seeing Him doesn't mean you won't have problems and difficulties. You will. Hard times will come. But in the midst of turbulence and tension and strife you can have victory if you gaze upon Him.

As John gazes upon this wonderful person Jesus, he says further, "Unto Him that loved us." To see Christ is to see His eternal, unchanging love for us. The Bible reveals that God is not a God of hate, but a God of love. He loves the world even in its rebellion against His Word, His way and His will. He loves a world in sin. His great love motivated Him to do something for the lostness of this world. He gave His only begotten Son. When men of this world looked into His face they saw the love of God incarnated in human flesh.

Tips To Veterans And Dependents

PREPARED BY CHESTER CURVEY HANCOCK COUNTY VETERANS SERVICE OFFICER

Any veteran drawing a pension who gets a divorce or gets divorced and remarries, even if it is the next day after his divorce, must submit this information to the Veterans Administration or his payments can be declared an overpayment and will have to be repaid by the veteran.

Any veteran drawing a pension who has an increase in the number of his dependents should contact the Veterans Administration to receive the increase in payments.

All Veterans having insurance, either commercial or NSLI, should check the beneficiary to determine whether that is the person you wish to collect your insurance in the event of your death.

All veterans or widows of veterans who are ineligible for a pension because of too much income, should keep a record of all medical expenses and health insurance payments plus your medicare payments. They are deductible from income for pension purposes.

Little children, teenagers, senior citizens all flock to hear Him, because the people of that day knew that Jesus loved them.

And so as John gazes upon Jesus, he says "Unto Him that loved us." I thank God for the love of a wonderful wife. But one love transcends all earthly love, and that's the love of Christ. So many people today are bugged by this "sense of loneliness and insecurity. They want love beyond anything else. What a message we have to share - that God loves them.

"Heroin Hotline"

In addition to the local TIP (Turn In A pusher) program, President Richard Nixon recently established the "Heroin Hotline" in an attempt to crack down on the heroin trafficking in the country.

This now gives citizens a quick and convenient way to give any information on drug pushers to the police. The toll-free number is (800) 368-5363 and operators are on duty around the clock, seven days a week. The caller need not identify himself and the rights of all callers will be fully protected.

Delisle Private In Exercises

Army Private First Class Ronald R. Martin, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie R. Martin, DeLisle, Miss., is participating with other members of the 82nd Airborne Division in exercise "Exotic Danger V4" during May 15-25 in the Camp Lejeune area of North Carolina.

Involving some 50,000 men from the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps, the exercise will begin for the troops of the 82nd on May 18 with a parachute assault in coordination with a Navy-Marine amphibious operation.

Once the initial parachute assault is accomplished, the all-American division will continue on missions of clearing routes and holding key terrain assets, eventually linking up with Marine forces.

The exercise, which is being conducted by the Atlantic command in Norfolk, Va., is designed to provide valuable joint training for the military personnel involved.

Pvt. Martin, a mechanic in Headquarters Company, 1st battalion of the divisions 505th Infantry at Ft. Bragg, N.C., entered the Army in March 1971 and completed basic training at Ft. Polk, La.

His wife, Rita, also lives in DeLisle.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

City-County Library Writer

A few evenings ago we tuned in the tube to a program announced as The Emmy Awards Special. The labeling was correct in one respect: it was a very special bore, taking up air time belonging to the people to promote and plug tv shows for the benefit of private interests.

The program consisted of Emmy statues awarded to the "bests" in these classes: a new series of programs; a comedy series; a dramatic series; variety series; talk series; dramatic-comedy program; musical variety program; classical music program. Awards were given for an actor and actress in a single performance, actor and actress in a dramatic series and in a comedy series, supporting actor and actress in a dramatic series and in a comedy series. Music background, directing, assistant directing, lighting, set design, camera work, sound effects-it went on and on, awarding to everyone who had ever seen the inside of a tv studio. The only one slighted, as far as we could note, was the Best Mens Room Attendant.

And, mind you, each award was announced by two different luminaries, and each Emmy was caressed by a speech by the recipient, one of whom thanked, by name, everyone on his studio and office staff until finally cut off by a weary m.c.

We suppose that things of this kind are necessary in the scheme of living. They are an accepted way of returning favors, of buttering up egos and showing that you are just one of the boys. If a network is willing to waste two hours of good time and the Emmy people have enough money to buy the Emmys and pay the studio crew, the viewers are asked to shrug it off as a typical tv inanity and to turn the dial quickly to more appealing fare.

But there is more to it than that. The air waves, as we said, belong to the people, not to the networks or stations or high-priced executives or their sponsors. Congress gave the power of regulating and policing this huge industry to the Federal Communications Commission (F.C.C.), which is supposed to see that air time is used to inform, instruct and entertain the people who have bought high-priced sets in the confident belief that it will do just these things. There is, in the FCC charter, no provision for air time to be given for the self-aggrandizement of money-grubbing second- and third-raters in any of the tv fields.

"Programs like the Emmy Awards Special are in direct violation of the intent and purpose of the FCC, and if the current members of that regulatory body will not do their duty to protect the viewing public from ex-Fenner, Jr., Audubon District; plotation they should be immediately dumped out on their collective ears and others put in who will do the job. ## State Plans Disaster Study

Torrential rains during the period May 4-12, 1972, caused extensive flooding along rivers and streams in at least 13 counties in Southeast Mississippi. Damage to roads and bridges was widespread causing interruptions and detours on school bus routes, milk collection and mail routes and normal daily traffic.

Supervisors and other public officials have appealed to Governor Bill Waller and Mississippi's Congressional Delegation for either State or Federal financial assistance in making the needed repairs to roads and bridges damaged by flood waters.

State Civil Defense Director, Kenneth Causey, in conjunction with Mrs. Emery

Shaw, Federal Highway Administration and Mr. Frank Moore, State Aid Division of the Mississippi Highway Department are coordinating joint Federal-State inspection teams to survey damage in the affected areas to determine the extent and cost of restoring these facilities. Counties which have been or will be surveyed are Lamar, Forrest, Greene, George, Stone, Pearl River, Harrison, Wayne, Perry, Jefferson, Davis, Jones, Jackson and Hancock. Surveys began on the 15th and should be completed during the week of May 22nd. The results of these inspections will provide the basis, if warranted, for Governor Bill Waller to request the President to declare this area a "Major Disaster" and thereby invoke the provisions of Public Law 91-606, The National Disaster Act. This authorizes Federal grants for the cost of restoration of damaged roads and bridges to pre-disaster conditions. The Office of Emergency Preparedness administers the Federal support under the National Disaster Act.

Inquiries concerning this situation should be directed to the local Civil Defense Director or the State Office of Civil Defense and Emergency Planning, 1410 Riverside Drive, Jackson, Mississippi.

Eastland takes the voice of Mississippi to the nation

Jim Eastland speaks in the U.S. Senate and the nation hears the voice of Mississippi. The nation knows that Mississippians abhor the threat of international communism. The nation knows that Mississippians believe in upholding and living by the law (our crime rate is the nation's lowest). And the nation knows that Mississippi insists on a good return for the tax dollars we send to Washington, because Jim Eastland speaks clearly in the Senate for the people of Mississippi (Mississippi, in fact, receives a return of three federal dollars for every dollar we send to the federal government). The Eastland influence in Washington wasn't built overnight. It took years of hard work on behalf of our people. Let's keep that clear voice in Washington.

When Mississippi needed a voice, Eastland was there.

Half-Way House Offers Hope To The Alcoholic

Half-Way House offers hope to the alcoholic.

Happiness may be a dry martini... except to the person it can kill, the alcoholic.

Happiness for the alcoholic may be his finding of a Half-Way House.

Happiness for you may be in helping to support a Half-Way House... a place to go, or be sent to, for an alcoholic broke, undernourished, helpless, unkempt and nothing to face but the gutter and, if he wakes up at all, tomorrow's drink.

"My name is John D."

"I am an alcoholic!"

Easy to say? Easy to face? Easy to know? Easy to live with?

Like heck it is!

Problem drinkers we have by the millions.

Alcoholics come by the ton.

Half-Way Houses are expensive to operate and all too few in number. The lives they save, minds they reorient, bodies they rehabilitate are priceless.

A Half-Way House is just as the name implies. A place to go that is betwixt and between.

A sanctuary operating in the alcoholic "twilight zone" dedicated to use by persons in an alcohol induced condition far beyond social acceptance and individual control, betwixt mental or physical death, or both, and between the narrow confines set by the tight rope of unleashed emotional disturbance.

Big words saying nothing? Bull!

We all know what they mean: A Half-Way House means a place to go for the destitute and beaten alcoholic.

A Half-Way House means security.

A Half-Way House means understanding.

A Half-Way House means a shot at rehabilitation.

A Half-Way House means hope.

Who operates the Half-Way House?

Alcoholics who have learned to acknowledge their affliction and stand before society and say, "My name is John D. I am an alcoholic. I am not ashamed."

Through Alcoholics Anonymous they found their way out of the maze of alcoholism.

The drunken Hell they left behind is, however, still overflowing with people screaming, pleading, dying to be shown the way.

So, they went back!

Back they went into Hell, not as drunks but as guides, map-makers to hope, living signposts pointing to their Half-Way House and its offer of being one way out, the end of a drunkalog spawned, in the timeless ooze of alcoholism.

Want to help?

Money, clothing, food and all necessities of life are needed for the Coast area's new Half-Way House.

To arrange for making a donation please call 487-4132, Bay St. Louis, or 864-9732, Gulfport.

Alcoholism is a disease and an alcoholic is the victim of this disease, just as the diabetic is the victim of diabetes.

The same phone numbers (above) can unlock the barricades of despair if you are close to the problems of alcohol.

A volunteer work force of determined, knowledgeable people who have torn clear of Hell is waiting to help.

Use it and, if necessary, the Half-Way House.

EXPERIENCE MEANS A LOT IN CONGRESS.

For the past four years, Trent Lott has served as administrative assistant to Congressman William Colmer.

During that time, Trent Lott has worked closely with members of the U.S. House of Representatives and the powerful House Rules Committee.

Trent Lott has earned the respect and encouragement of Congress, and can represent South Mississippi in the Colmer tradition. But Trent Lott asks for your vote as a Republican.

He thinks the Republican Party best shares the viewpoint of South Mississippians. When you consider the type of programs being asserted by the National Democrat Party, you begin to understand why Trent Lott believes only a Republican can effectively represent South Mississippi in the Colmer tradition.

Vote for Trent Lott in the June 6 Republican primary.

Trent Lott will carry on in the Colmer tradition.

AL BERNARD, left, president of the Waveland Civic Association, presents an historical marker to Waveland Mayor Garfield Ladner in ceremonies Sunday at the City Hall. Looking on are the school children who participated in the marker wording contest.

Historical Marker Given Waveland

In a ceremony Sunday afternoon, the Waveland Civic Association presented to the City of Waveland a historical marker commemorating the gratitude of Waveland residents for assistance received during and after Hurricane Camille.

In opening the ceremony, officers of the association presented to the city a standard-size American flag to be flown from the city's new flagstaff in front of the City Hall. The flag was donated by Eugene and Ethel Domain, 314 Necaise St. In Waveland, Domain is a member of the organization.

Presentation of awards for wording on the marker followed. A contest was conducted among 7th and 8th grade students in the area. The winning entry was submitted by Theresa Wilkinson, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Wilkinson. Runners-up were Joseph Martinez, son of Mrs. Estelle Decker; and Harriet Lynch, daughter of Mrs. Louise C. Lynch. Both girls are students at St. Clare and the boy attends Bay Junior High School. All three children won U.S. Savings Bonds.

The inscription on the marker reads, "FROM THE PEOPLE OF WAVELAND - In appreciation and gratitude to all who gave of their time, energy and money to help us recover from Hurricane Camille. On August 17, 1969 our city was devastated but those who cared came to her rescue."

The marker was then presented to Garfield Ladner, Mayor of Waveland, by Al Bernard, president of the Waveland Civic Association.

A Candidate For the People

Stone Barefield has announced his candidacy for Representative to the United States Congress for the Fifth Congressional District of Mississippi.

He has done so because he is a man of action. One who sees something wrong and wants to do something about it, instead of talking about it.

He sees the course the federal government is taking, toward smothering us all in a mire of meddling and infringement upon our everyday lives, yet giving us less and less a voice in its operation.

So Stone Barefield is going to do something about it for the people in District Five. He will fight hard to earn the privilege of giving you back that long-absent voice in your government.

He'll face the issues head on, as he always has in the past, and vote for the people of his District, not for political favor. The problems of inflation, high taxes, wasteful expenditures of the taxpayer's money by federal bureaucracy, narcotics traffic, the rights of the parents of this country to educate their children in their own neighborhood schools, and the policy of unequal treatment of the people of the South are tough issues, indeed. But Stone Barefield is even tougher. All you need do is let him prove it.

Stone Barefield is a constitutional conservative who believes in steadfast adherence to the true meaning of the U.S. Constitution. He'll be running in the Mississippi Democratic Party's primary as a Mississippi Democrat. This June 6th, you can finally help put an end to federal bureaucracy by voting for him.

Stone Barefield is not a man of words. He's a man of action.

Warm And Wonderful Cobbler

What do peaches, pears, grapes, pineapple, cherries and whole bran cereal have in common? They all go together in a deliciously tempting Fruit Cocktail Cobbler that's straight from Bay Kellogg's list of quick and easy desserts. Fruit cocktail is combined with a dash of orange peel and crowned with tender, multi-grain bran biscuits. Serve warm from the oven, golden brown and bubbling with light cream, whipped topping or a generous scoop of vanilla ice cream.

FRUIT COCKTAIL COBBLER
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 17-oz. cans (3 1/2 cups) fruit cocktail
1/2 teaspoon grated orange peel
1/2 cup whole bran cereal

1. Combine brown sugar and cornstarch in saucepan; stir in fruit cocktail and orange peel. Cook over medium heat until bubbly and thickened, stirring constantly. Spread evenly in ungreased 9 x 9 x 3-inch baking pan. Set aside.
2. Measure whole bran cereal, egg and milk into mixing bowl; stir to combine. Let stand until most of liquid is absorbed.
3. Measure flour, baking powder, salt and granulated sugar; sift together into mixing bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Add whole bran cereal mixture, stirring only until combined. Drop by spoonfuls, spacing 1 for each serving, over fruit cocktail mixture.
4. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 25 minutes or until cobbler is lightly browned. Spoon into dessert dishes and serve warm.

Yield: 8 servings.

Right Measuring Tools Essential

How does your cooking measure up? Chances are, if you're a whiz of a cook, you know the secret of measuring ingredients accurately.

Maybe grandma used a pinch of this and a handful of that, but with today's emphasis on gourmet cooking you've got to measure carefully to get the best results. What measuring tools are essential in the kitchen?

A set of liquid measuring cups. Plastic measures, like those from Hubbermaid, are great because they are break resistant and lightweight. They can be nested one inside the other and don't take up much storage space.

These plastic measures hold boiling liquids and, of course, are top-rack safe in the dishwasher, too.

Clear measuring cups should have horizontal lines with inscribed marks to indicate both ounces and cups marked on each side. Liquid measures usually come in sets of three — one cup, two cup and four cup.

A set of dry measuring cups. These are used to measure dry ingredients and should be filled to overflowing and then leveled with a straight edge. They usually come in stacking sets of four — 1 cup, 1/2 cup, 1/3 cup and 1/4 cup. Long-handled, dry measuring cups are handy for dipping in to quantities of dry foods, like flour or sugar.

Measuring spoons. These are used to measure small amounts of ingredients, usually of less than an ounce. Some measuring spoons are held together with a ring so they don't get separated in the drawer. Others hang from individual hooks on a metal strip attached to the wall.

They come in sets of four — a tablespoon, a teaspoon, 1/2 teaspoon and 1/4 teaspoon.

A measure which calls for less than 1/4 cup should be measured by teaspoons. There are three teaspoons in one tablespoon and four tablespoons in 1/2 cup, for example.

Scale. A good kitchen scale not only indicates pounds, but grams and kilograms, too. A scale is particularly important for the dieter who must watch every ounce consumed. Scales are also useful if you buy food in bulk and want to divide it for storage into family-size portions. They also come in handy when canning and in quantity cooking. A scale will undoubtedly be the most expensive kitchen measuring tool you'll buy. Make sure it has a guarantee and that it can be adjusted for the weight of the container you're using to weigh an item.

Ruler. This practical item comes in handy frequently — for measuring pie crusts or unmarked baking pans or even measuring the butter when it comes in unmarked wrappings. For instance, butter and margarine are commonly packed in 1/4-pound sticks. Each stick is 4 ounces or 1/2 cup and it is usually marked in table spoons on the wrapping. But if these guidelines are missing, use the ruler to divide the stick into quarters or the amount needed. Cut before unwrapping the butter.

It really works. Help it. Work.

MEMORIAL DAY

Through our history, the American scene has found men from every walk of life to whom we owe a debt of gratitude for the role they played in the fulfillment of the American Dream.

America is indeed rich in the heritage of those who willingly stood up to what they knew was right — their actions are in the highest traditions of America.

MEMORIAL DAY, May 30th is a day to honor those members of America's armed forces who have given their lives for their country.

Veterans Warned About Cemetery Advertising

The Veterans Administration recently announced that some private cemetery operators are advertising in a manner which suggests a connection with the VA or some other Government agency. It was pointed out that the Veterans Administration is not affiliated with private cemetery operators offering burial plots free or at small cost to veterans.

The VA and veterans organizations have received a number of complaints from persons who have been approached and provided with this type of suggestive literature. Similar complaints have been received by the Army Chief of Support Services, which handles matters pertaining to the assignment of grave space for veterans in National Cemeteries.

Below is a quote from the Veterans Benefits News, Vol. XVI, No. 6, dated February, 1972:

Numerous private cemetery operators offer veterans free burial plots. Usually, if the veteran wishes burial space for one or more dependents in addition to himself, the cost is quite substantial.

In some instances cemetery officials attempt to persuade even young veterans to pay eventual expenses such as a charge of $200 or more for opening and closing the grave at the time of the initial transaction. This simply means that the cemetery operators thereafter have the veteran's money for perhaps as long as fifty years or more at compound interest which means the veteran, in fact, would be paying several times the prescribed charge for opening and closing the grave.

In some areas cemetery operators have enticed high Federal Government officials to serve as principal speaker at dedication ceremonies and have used this to infer some type of Federal Government sanction or approval. Noted in one advertisement was an inference that this was necessary to qualify for the VA burial allowance.

The compelling argument presented to young veterans is the lack or scarcity of burial space in national cemeteries in the area.

While most of these enterprises may not violate state criminal laws, their advertisements are, in some instances, very deceptive and the cost of related services is sometimes so substantial that the "free" grave site is no bargain.

Another danger is the possibility that the area reserved for free burial sites for veterans may be neglected in the future if the cemetery operators find that because of increased maintenance costs and lack of adequate maintenance funds some part of the cemetery has to be neglected. Several years ago a survey in the southwest part of the country revealed several private cemeteries in which veterans burial areas were sadly neglected and in deplorable condition.

Veterans approached by private cemetery operators with an offer of free burial space should ask searching questions to be certain that all current and future costs are known and thoroughly understood. They should consider signing. Simply stated the "BUYER SHOULD BEWARE".

SUNSHINERS MEET
Sunshiners of Lutheran Church of the Pines held their monthly meeting last Sunday afternoon at the church with Hamilton Guenard IV, president, conducting the business session. The group voted to have a swimming party during the summer and a Father's Day bake sale to raise funds for the party.

Plans were discussed for a summer workshop which will include arts and crafts and work around the church grounds.

Mrs. Hamilton Guenard III and Mrs. Cal Smith are advisors for the group.

The next meeting will be at 4 p. m., June 11 at the Church.

Applications for entry in a special individualized reading program for young children at the University of Southern Mississippi should be received by May 31.

Prof. Mary Ann Carmichael, educational specialist, cautions that all applications are considered according to the date they are received. Only a limited number of children for the June 14-July 26 event will be accepted.

The Summer Reading Program is sponsored by the Reading Center and is open to children in grades two through seven. A diagnosis of reading ability will be completed for each child, with an evaluation of their needs. A program will then be planned for each individual, with individual instructors for each child.

Detailed information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Judith Bullock at Box 26, Southern Station, Hattiesburg, Miss.

Blackwell Announces For Congress

The Sea Coast Echo has been authorized to announce the candidacy of Charles G. Blackwell for Congressman, Fifth District.

I have waited patiently for my opponents to come forth and identify the number one problem in America. None have done so. The greatest single problem in America today is the decline of Morals. I believe that a federally funded program on a broad vocational level can help to redirect thousands of young people into jobs as wage earners and taxpayers rather than have them turn to drugs and welfare. I believe that our congress should find a way to help further the education of deserving young people who show exceptional promise in fields other than those taught at West Point, Annapolis, and the Air Force Academy. I believe that Goldwater and Wallace were right. Our foreign aid billions should be taken out of the hands of those who pass it on to our enemies and instead see to it that it is channeled into areas of genuine human needs wherever they are.

I believe that park facilities such as those that have been financed by the Federal Government on Federal lands in other states, should be developed right here in our own Desoto National Forest. I believe that a beautiful new historic parkway-like the Natchez Trace-should be built to follow the old Federal Road across the mid-section of our Fifth District.

I believe that our senior citizens who must live on a limited or fixed income should be protected from inflationary costs of living.

I believe that a government of the people should be by the people and for the people and not a government of the few - by the few and for the few.

BELIEVE IN A LIMITED GOVERNMENT.

Charles G. Blackwell is a graduate of the Ole Miss Law School and served in the Mississippi legislature from Jones County from 1964 to 1968. (Pd. Pol. Adv.)

Waller Creates State Council

Governor William Waller has announced the creation of a 35-member State Manpower Planning Council to coordinate all job and job-training programs in the state.

Council Chairman is Dr. Milton Baxter, Executive Director of the Division of Education and Training, Office of the Governor, located at the Universities Center.

"This council," said Governor Waller, "will be a key to economic improvement in Mississippi in the seventies, because it is charged with the development of Mississippi's human resources."

He said the purpose of the council is "to match people with jobs and to enroll people in job-training programs in the most effective way possible."

Governor Waller said the council will get input from the local level throughout the state from four regional ancillary boards to be implemented specifically for that purpose.

"The State Manpower Planning Council," he said, "is one of the most important bodies to be established during this administration, and we expect to hear much from it in the months and years to come."

"We want it to listen to what Mississippians at the local level are saying about job needs and job-skill-training needs in their respective areas and then to take proper action."

"The goal is to provide services to people needing job and job training, to assist employers seeking good workers, and to move people quickly and efficiently into meaningful work."

"To do this, we must have comprehensive manpower programs based upon locally-conceived priorities, programs which include realistic recommendations for funding and implementation."

"The name of the game is a better life style for the Mississippi working man, who deserves the right to the best employment commensurate with his skills."

"Members of this council represent state agencies, young people, blacks, consumers, legislators, county and municipal officials, labor unions, businessmen, manufacturers and others."

"As such, it is a symbol of the unity in Mississippi today in the determination to improve the economic condition of our people and to put people squarely at the top of our priority list."

"The various federal agencies with manpower programs are spending many millions of dollars. The Department of Labor alone spent some $65,000,000 in Mississippi last year."

"The State Manpower Planning Council and its regional ancillary boards must see to it that these federal and state dollars are spent in a way to assure maximum benefit for Mississippians."

Members of the council include the following: John E. Aldridge, Executive Director, Mississippi Employment Security Commission; John C. Bonner, Director, Division of Manpower; Office of the Mayor, Jackson; Dr. Ernest A. Boykins, President, Mississippi Valley State College, Itta Bena; W. J. Caraway, Executive Vice President, Mississippi Municipal Association; Dr. Hugh B. Cottrell, State Health Officer, State Board of Health; Charles Crawford, manpower program client, Bolton; Frank T. Roy B. Strickland Announces For Chancellor No. 3

Roy B. Strickland, Gulfport and Wiggins attorney, formally qualified for the office of Chancellor, Place 3. This office was recently created to assist Judge W. G. Hewes, Place 1, and Judge Frank W. Alexander, Place 2. The citizens of Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties will elect the new Chancellor in a general election on June 8 the same day as the upcoming party primaries.

His statement is as follows: "TO THE CITIZENS OF HANCOCK, HARRISON AND STONE COUNTIES: Our State Government has determined we need a third Chancery Court Judge. Sometime ago, it was reported I would be a candidate, and I do hereby announce my candidacy and solicit your vote and influence in behalf of my campaign."

We have a tradition in our district of electing outstanding Chancellors and Circuit Judges. Our present and past judges equal or excel those anywhere. It is my desire to carry on in the tradition of excellence which is so well established.

I have not only a strong desire, but offer a record of public service which I feel qualifies me for this office. Foremost is my prior experience as your Chancellor having served the 'unexpired' term of the late Judge Robert Buntin. I would be happy for those who appeared before me, during the balance of that term, to decide this election. I tried 'the cases' with compassion for human frailties, understanding—of high aspirations, impartially, yet at all times with friendliness. The State Supreme Court, in practically every appeal, agreed with my decisions. The wisdom and knowledge acquired from this service would be an asset to your new Chancellor.

My college training from Perkinson Junior College and the University Law School has been fortified with a general law practice in Gulfport and Wiggins for the past 12 years. My law partner, Roger T. Clark, and I, purchased the Bidwell Adam Offices a few years ago and we have been active in all Courts on the Gulf Coast.

I have been active in our Government in other areas. The people who know me best elected me to the State

Favre Entering Second Year Of Vet School

C. Thomas Favre, Jr., a graduate of Hancock North Central High School in Hancock County, is one of 41 first year veterinary medical students progressing on to the second year at Tuskegee.

RECEIVES DEGREE

Leo P. di Benedetto of 118 De Montluzin Ave., Bay St. Louis, received a bachelor of science in engineering degree during Tulane University's annual spring commencement on May 22.

The degree was conferred by Dr. Herbert E. Longenecker, president of Tulane.

Legislature in 1959, and reelected in 1963, where I served in leadership roles. One of my proud legislative achievements was sponsoring the creation of the Gulf Coast Junior College District. I have continued to serve this College as its lawyer for several years. I am now the Chairman of the Stone County Democratic Party, serving my second term. I am now and have been a city judge for several years. These experiences enable me to better understand and work with you and your other elected officials.

I believe I have a good understanding of my fellowman. I am active in my church, President of my PTA, active in several fraternal, civic and veteran organizations, and daily represent people with virtues and frailties. My parents, children and most relatives live in Harrison County, or in the old Beat 5 of Harrison County, which is now Stone County. I adhere to my childhood training of relying on God's held in all worthy endeavors. All this gives me insight to temper justice with mercy.

I earnestly solicit your consideration and vote on June 8. I believe I will make you a good Chancery Judge.

Sincerely,
Roy B. Strickland

These photographs taken on Friday, May 19, 1972, represent only a small number of such piles of discarded household appliances, worthless lumber, household furniture, hard-to-handle limbs, and other refuse in various locations throughout the community on that date. Such items cannot be picked up by the city's Sanitation Department. In commenting on the developments, Mayor Warren Carver stated that "on two different dates within the past few months we have published paid large-sized notices in the Echo to acquaint the general public with the provisions of the ordinance under which refuse can be picked up by city crews. These notices for the most part have been overlooked by large numbers of our citizens. Now it has reached a point where we must stand on the provisions of the ordinance. The city has neither the manpower, sufficient equipment, and not enough money to pick up discarded items which are not included in the ordinance."

Learning Disability Class Evaluated

BY DONALD ROBINSON
SPECIAL EDUCATION
TEACHER

NORTH BAY ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

The Learning Disability Class at North Bay Elementary School was evaluated May 12, 15, and 16 by the Southeast Mississippi Special Education Material Center, Miss Vicky Van Cloostere, examiner.

The batteries used in the evaluation were the California Achievement Test, Frostig Test of Visual Perception, Slosson Intelligence Test, Northwestern Syntax Test, and the Florida Test of Perceptual-Motor Development.

The purpose of the evaluation was to assess the individual ability of each child in the areas of (1) Perceptual-Motor Development, i.e., receiving information from his environment through visual, auditory, and tactile-kinesthetic means and respond in some manner to his environment; (2) symbolic notation or reading, where the child perceives positions of various objects, interprets the meaning and cognitively relate the meaning; and (3) arithmetical notation where the child responds to facts and processes of concepts of shapes, sizes, numbers, etc.

It was realized through the cooperation of the Material Center the school staff and the unselfish indulgence of Mrs. Jean Arceneaux, the aide to the special class, that the program is ready to launch into Level II. Level II offers a higher level of remediation as compared to that of Level I. It serves 9, 10, and 11 year-olds who for some reason are having difficulty in handling work at their present grade level. Letters were sent to parents by the North Bay Elementary School Staff when their child is having difficulty in performing academically in the school. The parents are urged to note that the letters suggested May 19 the day to have that necessary conference with your child's teacher. If other arrangements must be made, please do it early so that we can plan for your child's learning experiences for the ensuing year.

Community Mental Health

by RAY COXE
COASTAL MENTAL HEALTH CLINIC

An exceptional child is one who deviates from normal physical, intellectual, emotional, or social patterns to a degree warranting special consideration. The term "exceptional child" represents an attempt to group under one general description a wide range of individual problems and may refer to children who are retarded, emotionally disturbed, gifted, blind, deaf, orthopedically handicapped, or have a learning disability or speech problem.

Each of these handicapped youngsters has similar problems. They all differ from the so-called normal child, all require some special consideration in educational facilities, and all encounter special problems involving the attitudes and personalities of the people in contact with them. The exceptional child shares a need for the opportunity to grow and develop physically, mentally, and emotionally to his fullest capacity.

Dr. Clark Moustakas, in his book Psychotherapy With Children, emphasizes the difficulty of being an exceptional child: "The handicapped child faces multiple difficulties. He must learn to live with a handicap which is perceived by others as a defect rather than a difference. He must work through intense feelings of anger and fear which result from frequent belittlement and rejection. In his relations with others, he often is made to feel less than a whole person. He must accept the fact that he lives in a culture which compares him unfavorably and offers him limited opportunities."

It is very difficult for parents to accept that their child is in some way different from others. As a result, parents may ignore an existing problem for years because of a fear of social or professional stigma. Seeking professional help as early as possible in the child's life gives the child a better chance to develop his full potential and helps the parents realize the part they can play in helping their child to achieve his maximum potential. A complete evaluation is essential in determining the nature and extent of a child's handicap because frequently a number of different problems may be involved, some of which may not be apparent in a superficial or incomplete evaluation.

Representatives from the public and private schools, welfare agencies, civic and service organizations, and the Coastal Mental Health Program have formed the Hancock County Interagency Commission to evaluate and coordinate needs and apply for monetary grants to provide for a comprehensive program for exceptional children in Hancock County.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

The weather for the past week has been ideal for all sports, especially fishing. It has been warm during the day and cooler at nights with no rain. Fishing has been on the good side with speckles, flounders and other salt water fish being caught most everywhere. Fresh water fish have been caught where the water was clear. Good catches were reported of bass and perch being gotten on the fly rod, casting and by still fishermen. Perch are of unusual large size, especially blue gills and goggle-eye. Some flounders are being speared and soft crabs are beginning to give due to the low tides at night. Even hard crabbing is improving.

The pier out in front of the old American Legion Home has been a busy place with fishermen catching speckles, red fish and flounders. Speckles are still being caught at Telegraph Keys, mostly on live croakers.

Tuesday night young Floyd Hoda, Jr. caught a flounder weighing over 4 pounds off the Hi-way Bridge. Floyd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hoda, Sr. He was a happy boy. Was using a rod and reel.

W.C. Friserson of Picayune comes down this way to do his fishing. Catches quite a few fish on each trip. Said he goes when ever possible.

Paul Cox said he is going back to fishing. Been off of it a long time.

Jack Crowley enjoys his fishing. Was proud of the 34 pound drum fish he caught last Saturday while wading down by Waveland where he has a home. He fishes anytime he can and gets his share of the finny tribe.

Freddie Ladner, James Singleton and James Wainwright caught some large speckles off the Hi-way Bridge the other night. All three are ardent fishermen and get their share of fish.

John Flannery and wife Elizabeth, Leo and Lila Trapani with Joe (Dago) Razzano caught 37 croakers and some bream at Bayou La Croix last week. They had a and mouths of rivers. Crabs are generally taken during full moon at which time their shells are full of meat. Crabs can be caught anywhere along the seawall from Jourdan River to Bayou Caddy. Fish heads are best for catching them. Respect their claws they pinch mightily hard.

A few good places to catch bass and perch near by are Jourdan River, Bayou LaCroix, Catfish Bayou, 4 Dollar Bayou, Watts Bayou, Edwards Bayou and all canals joining them. These streams are excellent for fly fishing and casting. Fishing is best on falling tides. Popping bugs are favorites with most fly fishermen at this time.

For best results when fly fishing keep line floating, change leaders often and check hooks to see that they are sharp. A dull hook can lose a number of fish and cause a lot of cussing.

When fishing from a boat be sure to have a Coast Guard approved cushion. They are a must for safety and a fine can be given those without one.

Was a pleasure going fishing with Al Mercer and his son. Father Joe, Father Joe is now stationed at Pascagoula. He caught a nice flounder while fishing for speckles on a shad rig.

Speaking of shad rigs the orange colored ones are paying off right now. They are a very effective bait when used with a cork.

Citizens Two Way Radio

Adds To Enjoyment Of Outdoors

As millions of American families prepare to take to the outdoors this spring and summer, one piece of equipment is becoming more and more common — citizens two-way radio.

In some cases this is in the form of a portable for use in the field, but more often it is a unit installed in a vehicle to communicate from a camper, station wagon, boat or even an airplane. Because of the relative low cost and easy operation of this type of radio, it is ideal for emergency communications as well as an aid to the enjoyment of the outdoors.

Presently 1.5 million motorists, nearly one out of six, are already equipped with this inexpensive, easy-to-use two-way radio.

Fishermen can communicate with one another whether on land or by boat to determine where they're biting and what bait is most successful. Many small boat operators, particularly on the inland lakes, find CB radio to be the only practical two-way system they can afford. While present Coast Guard policy does not provide for universal monitoring of CB channels, help can be summoned on Channel 9 and other channels due to the large numbers of volunteer monitors.

Keep in Touch — Anywhere! When camping, family members can communicate for several miles. The telephone has its children have developed in the city carries over into two-way radio to relieve parental anxiety so that everyone has more fun. Sudden weather emergencies or medical needs can be communicated to avoid serious complications caused by delay.

A recent development has aided the whole process. This is the designation of citizens radio Channel 9 as an official motorists assistance and emergency channel by the Federal Communications Commission. In addition to reporting accidents, disasters and other emergencies, motorists can call for road service, traffic information and travel directions to reach a destination.

The chances are excellent, almost anywhere in the country, that your message will be received by one of the tens of thousands of both volunteer and official assistance stations that are listening to the emergency channel 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to handle just such situations as yours. The monitor in turn telephones the nearest appropriate authority and in a matter of minutes, help is on the way.

One nationwide organization, REACT, has approximately 40,000 trained volunteers. Many independent citizens radio clubs perform similar services. Growing numbers of police departments, fire departments and civil defense organizations are cooperating. All together, the Electronic Industries Association estimates that nearly 3 million citizens radios already are in use in homes, boats, on the farm and in vehicles — not only to help out in emergencies but for personal communication by the average citizen.

Easy To Own and Operate

Citizens radios are as easy to use as a telephone — flip the selector knob to the desired channel, and push a button on the microphone to talk. Release the button to listen. No tests or special technical knowledge are required, but you do need an FCC license, obtainable on request. The fee is $20 for five years. The requirements for ownership are very simple. Citizens radios can be purchased at many department stores, electronic distributors and radio shops.

In addition to the emergency frequency, 22 additional channels are available for personal or business communications. For considerably less than $150, a radio may be purchased on which you can communicate on all 23 channels.

The Citizens Radio Section of the Electronic Industries Association has an informative pamphlet available that answers many questions about personal citizens two-way radio. It may be obtained by writing to E. I. A. Service Dept., 21 E. Hubbard St., 11th floor, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

To know what kind of a job a man will do,

look at the job he's doing.

There's more awareness of the pollution problem now than there was in 1958. That's when Danny Guice and another forward-looking legislator wrote Mississippi's first anti-litter law. Recently, Guice went to Washington to propose the idea of a joint sewage disposal system for growing portions of the Gulfport-Biloxi metropolitan area, to protect the valuable waters of the Back Bay and Mississippi Sound. He just won Federal approval of this thirteen-million-dollar, ultra-modern installation. Dan Guice is already doing something about pollution. As our Congressman, he will be able to do even more.
